PRINCETON, N.J. – November 14, 2012 – Agile Therapeutics commercial head Katie MacFarlane has been named a Bronze Stevie Winner for the Female Entrepreneur of the Year Stevie® Award in the Consumer Products, 10 or Fewer Employees category, in the Stevie Awards for Women in Business.

The Stevie Awards for Women in Business are the world's top honors for female entrepreneurs, executives, and the organizations they run. All individuals and organizations worldwide are eligible to submit nominations – public and private, for-profit and non-profit, large and small. The 2012 awards received entries from 17 nations and territories.

Nicknamed the Stevies for the Greek word for “crowned,” the awards were presented to winners during a dinner at the Marriott Marquis Hotel in New York City.

Dr. MacFarlane is the commercial head of Agile Therapeutics, and brings over 23 years of experience in the pharmaceutical industry, including drug development, marketing, and sales management. She is leading the preapproval commercial activities for AG200-15, the company's once-weekly, low-dose contraceptive patch, which was recently submitted to the FDA for approval.

“We are so proud of Katie for being named a winner of this prestigious award,” said Al Altomari, President and CEO of Agile Therapeutics. “She has played an instrumental role in supporting our development and preparation for marketing of AG200-15, and this recognition is a testament to her hard work at Agile and her extensive experience in the pharmaceutical industry.”

Stevie Award winners were selected by more than 200 executives worldwide who participated in the judging process this year.
